THEY HAD THE LUCK.

Fortune Favors the Bostons and They Beat Our Boys.

THE CONTEST A TOUGH ONE

New York Also Wins and To-Day Will Settle the Pennant.

CAPTAIN ANSON VERY BADLY HURT

The Chicagos Once More Step Up Into the Third Place.

GENERAL BASEBALL NEWS OF THE DAY

Boston once more defeated the home players, but in a very lucky way. New York also won, and the games to-day will settle the pennant struggle. Chicago is again in third place. Captain Anson met with a serious accident on the ball field. He and Schriver, of Philadelphia, were badly hurt.

If ever there was an exciting ball game in this city, yesterday's contest between the home team and the Bostons was the event, and no mistake about it. It was war to the knife, and every inch of ground was contested with all the art and strength that the two opposing nines could command. True, the visitors had more at stake than the home players, but that did not prevent the latter from putting forth every possible effort to come out victorious. They did not do it, but the aspiring champions from Boston will never have such a close shave again without suffering defeat. Oh! it was close, and doubtless the Bostons had given up the contest as a bad affair before victory favored t If the Bostons win the pennant to-day they may thank that venerable old lady. Dame Fortune, for it. If ever good fortune blessed the efforts of a ball team it did so with the Bos tons yesterday. Not that they do not play good ball. On the contrary, they played A REMARKABLE GAME, and so did the home players, except at one or two critical stages. These mistakes gave the visitors the game. For instance, in the ninth inning Sunday was on third base and nobody out, and, as fortune would have it. Dun lap knocked a liner right into Nash's hands, who caught Sunday off the base thereby effecting a double play. It is more singular still that Nash was playing near third to try and catch Sunday napping by the aid of Madden. Had Sunday not been thus singularly put out he could have easily scored on Staley's long fly to Richardson. And what is more, the visitors ought not to have made a run in the ninth. Deacon White's most glaring mistake allowed them to get a run in, and win the game. After all this, who can say it was not a fortunate day for Boston. However, it is use-less to cry over spilt milk, because after all these things are in the fortunes of baseball. The Hostons were playing for the pennant. They have a slight hold of it and they wanted to get it entirely to themselves. Probably never a nine played more earnestly for a victory than did the Beancaters yesterday, and if they win the prize to-day they deserve it. If they don't win it they are no less worthy of credit and acknowledgement. Every effort they could not be a supported by the command was called into action were possibly command was called into action yes terday and they did brilliant work.

ARE STILL SECOND Of course their victory did not put them New York, so that as far as teams are concerned they are in the same position as they were on Thursday. If both teams win to-day the pennant is the New Yorks', and if the latter lose then Boston will own the flag.

The weather was miserably cold and only the most intense love and patriotism for baseball could prompt the 1,200 or 1,300 enthusiasts to sit most intense love and patriotism for basebail could prompt the 1,200 or 1,300 enthusiasts to sit and shiver through the game. The excitement tended to keep warm blood circulating rapidly through one's veins, but still the weather was very unfavorable. It was damp and chilly all day. Much to the surprise of everyboup present Clarkson took a rest and Madden went in to pitch. The "Kid," however, was not a soft snap by any means, as only in one inning did the local sluggers take any liberties with him. With the exception of that inning he pitched a great game. But his support was marvelous, it seemed impossible for the home players to knock a ball into any part of the outfield that the fielders could not reach. Johnston, in the very first inning, electrified everybody by running a long distance and catching a ball that Miller knocked within a few feet of the top of the fence. The catch was really one of the most remarkable seen here. Kelly and Richardson also did excellent work, and saved their ardson also did excellent work, and saved their little pitcher two or three long hits.

STALEY WAS ALL RIGHT. Staley pitched a good game, and it was not his fault that the game was lost. The big hitters were far from being at home with him. He was, however, responsible for one of the runs made. Excepting White's error the infield did well. The visitors tallied the first runs in the third inning. Bennett led off with a two-bagger to left field and Madden followed, knocking the ball in front of Staley. The latter fumbled it long enough, however, to allow Madden to land safely on first and Bennett on third: Bennett scored on Richardson's long fly to Sunday, and Kelly made a single, sending Madden to third. Mike stole second and Madden scored on Nash's out

Kelly made a single, sending Madden to third. Mike stole second and Madden scored on Nash's out.

In the next inning the home players raised the enthusiasm of the crowd to boiling point by going the Bostons one better. Had it not been for a little stupidity the result would have been at least two better than Boston. After Rowe had knocked a fix out to Onion Beekley. Rowe had knocked a fly out to Quinn, Beckley whizzed the ball down the right foul line for three bases. White followed with a single to center, scoring Beckley. Fields followed with a double to left, White reaching third. Hanlon a double to left, White reaching third. Hanlon was then hit by a pitched ball, and the bases were filled with only one man out. Sunday made a scratch hit and White scored amid the most tremendous shouts ever heard on the grounds. Dunlap came next, and the bases were still full. He knocked the ball into right field, and it looked safe, but Kelly caught it. Fields at once started for home, and Kelly threw the ball to Madden.

THERE WAS A KICK.

Sunday, however, had slipped down in returning to his base and was thrown out at first according to the umpire, although the decision was an extremely close one. This retired the side and a tremendous argument ensued about Fields' run. At first the umpire declared it would count and then Kelly kicked. Subsequently Powers seemed to be inclined to reverse his decision and Hanlon took him in hand. After a long argument between the two the umpire counted the run and then more cheers went up. Fields was certainly across the plate before Sunday was out.

In the fifth inning the visitors started out quite merrily. Madden knocked a double to left field, and Richardson followed suit, scoring Madden and tying the score. Kelly's sacrifica advanced Richardson to third, and Nash knocked a liner to Beckley. The latter caught it, and made a double play by throwing Richardson out at third. The eighth inning was extremely exciting, though not a run was made. Nash led off the second half with a single to left, and Brouthers sent him to third by another single. Broathers then stole second. Johnston knocked the ball to Rowe, who returned it to Miller, and Nash was put out between third and home. Quinn then knocked the ball to Staley, who returned it to Miller, and Brouthers was put out between third and home after considerable dodging. Smith then retired the side.

The score was tied at the ninth inning. Sun-

The latter, however, threw wild to first and Sunday sprinted around to third. Duniap, however, knocked the ball into Nash's hands, and the latter caught Sunday off third. Staley retired the side by a long fly to Richardson. For Boston, Bennett led off with a single and Madden followed with a scratch hit. Richardson flew to Sunday and Kelly knocked a grounder to Rowe. The latter threw the ball to White to catch Bennett at third. The Deacon, however, dropped the ball and Bennett was safe. Nash struck out and Brouthers brought in the winning run by a single to left.

He and Schriver Collide on the Field With Serious Results.

CHICAGO, October 4.—A serious accident happened on the National League baseball grounds this afternoon. In practice, just prior to the calling of play, Delehanty, of the Philadelphia, batted a fly directly over his head which went very high in the air. Schriver, who stood at the side of Delehanty, prepared to catch it on its descent. Anson, of the Chicagos, was standing at first base, and, seeing the ball go into the air, started on a swift run for it also.

the ball go into the air, search on the for it also.

Delehanty, seeing him coming, exclaimed:

"Look out, Captain, look out!" Anson did not heed the caution, but kept on, colliding with Schriver, the shock felling them both to the ground. Both had to be assisted to arise and each was carried to a hotel. Late reports are that Anson has sustained a very bad fracture of the jaw, while Schriver has a severely disfigured forebead and his right eye is cut, it is feared exclusive.

To-Day's Great Home Game, To day's game at Recreation Park will be the last championship game of the season here. It will be an eventful game, as if Pittsburg wins Boston will have no chance whatever for the pennant. Clarkson will pitch for Boston, and probably Galvin for Pittsburg.

JEROME PARK AND LATONIA WINNERS. Hal Pointer Wins 2 Big Pacing Race at the St. Louis

Meeting.

There was great excitement at the Morris Park races. Fordham and Pearlset made a desperate finish, and Brother Ban and Now or Never ran a dead heat. Hal Pointer won the 2:16 pace at St. Louis. There was fine sport at Latonia and Jerome Park.

RACE TRACK, MORRIS PARK, October 4 .-What promised fo be very poor sport turned out to be racing of a very sensational character. It was an extra day at Morris Park, but the attendance was very fair. The chilling westerly breezes made heavy clothing a necessity, but otherwise the weather was pleasaut for the season. Never was a finish more desperately fought than that of the first race. Fordham had to run the race of his life to beat Pearlset. If the latter's rider had been an expert the result would have been different, and, in all prob ability, the record would have been smashed instead of equaled.

First race, five furlongs-Starters: Hearts, Fordham, Boodle, Swift, Puzzle, Long Jack, Frejois, Village Mald, Lady Pulsifer, Ralph Bay-ard, Frailty, Pearlset, Mamie B.
